MONDAY, AUGUST 14. 1738.

No 979.

Saturday last arrived a Mail from Holland.

Petersburg, July 17. O. S.

THE Court has received Advice from the Velt Marshal de Munich, by an Express, that he is on the March with his Army towards Bender to attack the Turks, who are encamped under the Cannon of that Place; but he is obliged to go several Leagues round about in order to come at the Niefter; because if he takes the shortest Way to that River, he is afraid that he shall want Water before he comes at it. 'Tis still said, that if he take Bender, he will then go and besiege Chocim, that he may pass the Winter there with the Army, which may be easily supply'd at that Place with Provisions and Forrage from Poland and Transylvania.

We have received these farther Particulars touching the late Action near the Bog. The Velt Marshal de Munich having left the Camp, and taken some hundred Men along with him for a Guard, to view the Enemies Situation, perceived that they had attack'd and incompar'd Brigadier Schiphoff, who commanded one of the Piquet Guards of the Army. As he saw him in great Danger, he resolv'd immediately to march with his Guard to his Assistance. In order to join him, he was obliged to Force his Way quite through the Enemy, which he had no sooner done, but the Turks and Tartars surrounded him on all Sides, and fell upon him in such Numbers, that the General would have run the Hazard of falling into the Enemies Hands, if the youngest of the Duke of Courland's Brothers had not disengaged him. Upon this Occasion the Velt Marshal had a Horse killed under him. The Spahis attack'd with such Vigour, that the Russian Dragoons, and the Cuirassiers too, were obliged to dismount; and we are assured, that had it not been for the Artillery, which did good Execution, it would have been a difficult Task to have dispersed them. By the Report of the Prisoners, the Tartars amounted to 80,000 Men, and the Spahis to 30,000; but the Number is supposed to be exaggerated, because according to the Report of the same Prisoners, the Spahis were only commanded by a Bashaw with two Tails, and by four others with only one Tail each; from whence it follows, that their Number could not exceed 15,000. On the Side of the Russians there were but 80 Men kill'd.

The Academy of Sciences established in this City, lately received two Chests of Books from Lisbon, as a Present from the Academy which the King of Portugal has founded there for History. They are the several Books written and printed by the Academy since its Institution. They treat of the Civil and Ecclesiastical History of the Kingdom of Portugal. These Works, which consist of 30 Volumes magnificently bound, were lately presented to the Imperial Academy in one of the Conferences, and a very obliging Letter was read at the same time, with which the Portuguese Academy accompany'd their Present.

Vienna, July 26. O. S. On the 16th the Imperial Army, which had been join'd the Day before by the Garison from Meadia, arrived at Lugos, and next Day went and incamp'd at Trachina. The Commanding Officer of the Garison brought a Letter with him from the Seraskier Bashaw of Widdin to the Count de Konigsfegg, wherein he tells him, 'That he had just retaken Meadia; but that he was surpris'd not to find the Imperial Army in the Neighbourhood to defend it.' The Count de Konigsfegg had such a Contempt for the Gasconnade, that at first he resolv'd not to answer it, but at last he chang'd his Mind, and sent the Seraskier Word, 'That if he valued himself on the Taking of Meadia, he had not much to boast of, since it was a paltry Place that lay quite open, and was oblig'd by its Situation to surrender as soon as attack'd.' He added, 'Tho' that if he could have foreseen the Seraskier's Return to Meadia, he would have left a Body of Horse there to give the Turks the same Welcome as they had twice before.' On the 18th, they heard in the Camp, that the Enemy had pass'd the Hills near Meadia, and were incamp'd in the Plains near Tregova, on the other Side. The last News we had touching the Siege of Orsova say, that on the 12th ult. the Turks attack'd the Fort of St. Elizabeth, but were repuls'd with the Loss of above 600 Men drowned in the Danube, and above 400 more killed and wounded. The Report that the Bashaw of Bosnia had pass'd the River Unna with a considerable Army is confirm'd; but instead of attacking Costanza, as had been given out, they left that Place behind them as well as Novi, and went and laid Siege to Szrinia, a little Fort which they began to attack with great Fury; but just now a Messenger sent on purpose from that Country, has brought the following Letter, dated the 21st of this Instant, O. S. from the Camp of Count Esterhazy, Ban of Croatia.

'I have the Satisfaction, Sir, to acquaint you that Yesterday the Enemy rais'd the Siege of Szrinia with so much Precipitation, that they left a great Number of Bombs and Cannon Bullets in the Approaches, and repass'd the Unna in Confusion. Some Troops have been sent after them, which 'tis hop'd will have the good Fortune to overtake them. During the Siege, there were but 3 Soldiers and 2 Oxen killed by the Besiegers Bombs.

As this Letter does not mention the Motives which have compell'd the Turks so suddenly to abandon their Enterprize, we impatiently expect the Particulars of all that has pass'd in Croatia, since the Infidels pass'd the Unna. Mean time this is what they write from Carlstadt, viz.

'The Croations themselves having made an Offer to defend their own Country against the Turks, without the Assistance of any Regular Forces, provided the Emperor would engage to defend the Inhabitants in their ancient Privileges, and grant them a Subsidy in Money for the Pay of their Militia: His Majesty accepted the said Offer of his Subjects, and order'd the Chamber of the Finances in that Province to pay them 48,000 Florins at two different Terms. But before the said Chamber could pay half that Sum, the Infidels pass'd the Unna, and enter'd into the Country; of which Count Esterhazy, the Ban of the Province, was no sooner inform'd, but he advanced what the Chamber of Finances should have done, out of his own Pocket, and bought up for the Service of the Militia, all the Gun Powder, Shot, and all the other Ammunition that he could find; and at the same time sent Orders to the Inhabitants to arm forthwith, and to assemble upon the Glinas, on Pain of losing the Privileges and Prerogatives, of which the Emperor had promis'd them a Confirmation. The Croations have conform'd to the Orders of their Governors, and are actually on the March against the Enemy with such a good Will, that 'tis not doubted but they will oblige 'em to repass the Unna.'

The Hungarians too offer to bring 30,000 Men into the Field, on condition that the Emperor will grant them certain Privileges, of which they pretend to have been formerly in Possession, and 'tis said the Duke of Lorraine seconds their Offer, and thinks it ought not to be rejected.

The Dispatches which the Marquis de Mirepoix received last Week from Constantinople, were sent last Sunday to Paris by a Courier, with the Result of a Conference held thereupon between the Emperor and his Ministers. 'Tis generally thought that we shall have a Peace, or at least a Suspension of Arms; and 'tis said that's the true Motive of Count Konigsfegg's Retreat; they add moreover, that one or two Agas are arriv'd in that General's Camp, who have brought very fair Proposals for an Accommodation; but the Journal from the Army makes no mention of these two Ministers, nor do the Letters from Officers of the best Intelligence in the Army: Besides, though the Duke of Lorraine continues here as yet, there's all the Appearance that can be of his speedy Return to the Army; and if it be true that the Porte demands Temiswar, Belgrade and Orsova, 'tis a Question whether the same will be comply'd with.

The Rebel Ragotski is in the Turks Army, habited like a Hungarian, with several German and Hungarian Officers in his Retinue. He quitted Widdin, together with the Seraskier of that Place, when he advanced to Meadia. The Commissioners appointed to inquire into the Conduct of Count Daun and General Caraffa, during the last War in Italy, having made a Report in their Favour, the Emperor has declar'd them fully justified, and they have had the Honour to kiss his Hand.

Wetzlar, Aug. 4 O. S. As the King of Prussia was returning from Cleves to Berlin, his Coach broke down on the 31st ult. in the Morning near Langenhager, and no other Conveniency being to be found soon enough in those Parts, he was oblig'd to travel in a Countryman's Waggon to Hanover, where, after having taken some Refreshment, his Majesty proceeded for Brunwick in the Chaise of the Bailiff of Langenhager, and arriv'd there on the 1st Inst. from whence he was expected at Berlin on the 4th.

Warsaw, July 20. O. S. The Kurpiques having, according to their Promise, deliver'd up six of the Ringleaders of their Rebellion to the commanding Officer of the Detachment of the Crown Guards, some of them were hang'd three Days ago, and others forced to run the Gantlope; after which the King's Pardon was produced, together with a Confirmation of some of their Privileges.

Madrid, July 18 O. S. The King of the Two Sicilies having left it to his Catholick Majesty to chuse six Knights of the Order of St. Januarius, which he has lately instituted, his Majesty has nominated the Dukes of Mirandola and Medina Celi, the Conde de Montijo, the Duke de Gardia, the Marquis Scotti, and the Marquis d. St. John.

Venice, July 22. O. S. Last Saturday we had a dreadful Storm, during which, the Lightning fell in several Places, and particularly upon the House of the Signior Foscarini, where, as his Chambermaid was cleaning some Jewels at the Window, it melted the Gold and Silver of several of them in such a manner, that Part of the Brilliants dropp'd to the Ground, and the others remained naked in her Hands, and yet the Maid received no Hurt, and the House no Damage.

Brussels, July 31. O. S. Letters from Madrid say, the King has again express'd a Desire to abdicate the Crown, but the Queen and the Ministers, as well as the Prince and Princess of Asturias, all oppose it.

Last Saturday his Majesty, his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, and the Princesses, went from Kensington to Richmond New Park, where they roused a Stag, which carried them a pleasant Chace of an Hour and a Half, and was killed as he was going to take to the great Pond. After the Chace was over, the Duke and Princesses returned to Kensington, his Majesty and the Lords of his Bed chamber in Waiting, went to view her late Majesty's House at Richmond, and at 2 o'Clock returned to Kensington.

On Sunday the 6th Instant died at Oxford, the Hon. George Baillie of Jerviswood, Esq; in the 75th Year of his Age, very much lamented by all that knew him. This Gentleman, after his Father had been deprived of his Life and Estate for defending the Liberty of his Country, was obliged to retire into Holland, where he remained until the Revolution, when he came over an Officer in King William's Army. As soon as the Government was settled, his paternal Estate was restored to him by Act of Parliament in Scotland, and he was employed by King William during all that Prince's Reign. He was appointed Treasurer Depute, and one of the Privy Council in Scotland, by Queen Anne, and after the Union, one of the Commissioners of Trade, &c. Upon the Accession of King George the First, he was made one of the Lords of the Admiralty, and soon after one of the Lords of the Treasury, and served as Member in the Parliaments of Scotland and Great Britain during the Reigns of all those Princes. He married the Lady Grisel Hume, Daughter of Patrick Earl of Marchmont, by whom he has left Issue two Daughters. His universal good Character is so well known, that it is unnecessary to say more of him here.

Concerning Gleet and Seminal Weakness of all Kinds.

ALL judicious Physicians and Surgeons allow, that nothing is more difficult to cure than Stubborn Gleet and Seminal Weaknesses, whether occasion'd by too severe purging for Venereal Injuries, Strains, Pollution sui, or any other Cause whatever, that they are dangerous in their Consequences, as well difficult to cure, as is certain, since they exceedingly weaken the Generative Faculties, infect the whole Nervous System, often bring on Heelick Heats, a Tabes Dorsalis, or Corruption of the Back, or an Atrophy or Nervous Consumption, which frequently terminate in Death itself.

All such, therefore, who have the Misfortune to be troubled with Old or Stubborn Gleet, Seminal Effusions, untimely Emissions, excessive Nocturnal Pollutions, or any Weakness of the Kidneys, Ureters, or Bladder, the Difficulty of Urine, or Difficulty of holding their Urine, would doubtless be glad to meet with a certain, speedy Cure, which they most assuredly may, by only a small Quantity of a transcendent BALSAMICK RESTRICTIVE ELECTUARY, now published for a general use after having for many Years been experience'd never to fail perfectly curing the most Stubborn Gleet, in a few Days, without Difficulty or Trouble, as also other Weaknesses of the Back, Reins, Seminal Vessels, Urinary Passages, which almost instantly cures, helps to rights and restoring all those Parts and Passages to natural Tone and pristine Vigour, in a very extraordinary Manner, and by taking a few Doses of it only.

This transcendent BALSAMICK RESTRICTIVE ELECTUARY is neither disagreeable to take, nor occasions the least disorder, but is a wonderful Restorative in all Weaknesses of Constitution of any Kind, and particularly Strengthening the Back, Reins, Seminal and Urinary Vessels to an immense degree, inasmuch that in any Debility of them, one Dose does more than ten of any other Remedy yet found out, and all Persons fatigu'd with Gleet or Seminal Weaknesses, Sort, or Weaknesses of the Urinary Vessels, who have not in three Days time find it so very effectual, that they are most agreeably surpris'd at it.

When a Medicine will infallibly accomplish such a speedy and perfect Cure of such difficult Maladies, as Gleet and Seminal Weaknesses are, as this Great Remedy will directly will, even after all other Means and Medicines have been tried in vain; too much cannot be said in its Praise. All who ever took it for any of the above-mentioned Disorders have readily declared.

The Price is but 6 s. a Pot, altho' for its absolute efficacy one Pot alone being sufficient in most Cases to secure a Cure, worth ten times as much, and by the special Appointment, is to be had only at Mr. RAY'S Toy-shop, at the Rose and Crown against St. Dunstons Church-Yard in the Strand, ready sealed up, with a full Instructions, which whosoever carefully reads will fully know, when the Gleet or Weakness he is afflicted with succeeds a Venereal Injury, whether all the Malicious the Foul Disease is entirely eradicated or not.

Note, Ask only for a 6 s. Pot of Balsamick Electuary
